For immediate release:

Daffy Scanlan & Chiara Ibrah:

Delayed Green

April 24–June 13, 2021

Opening Saturday April 24, 4–8pm

Next involuntary chapter, down to infinity

*I'm whittled down
Something moved by non-stop travel
A centimeter out of reach,
Slouching*

*Chemtrail lattice
Seen from a bus*

*Give me a sign
Mends the damage*

*Mutable expert
Habits hold the reigns
To be born*

*Invisible apple
I want a way*

—Daffy Scanlan and Chiara Ibrah, April 2021.

Daffy Scanlan is an artist and musician from New Jersey. Her work plays off of and compounds the corresponding passageways of memory, time, and space. Under the moniker Drumloop, Scanlan collages language with piano and digital synthesis to create sonic representations of her internal universe.

Chiara Ibrah is a visual artist based in Brooklyn. Allegorical imagery and visual puns are recurring motifs in her multimedia work, for which she combines contrasting mediums to further the visual narrative.

Delayed Green is their second exhibition at the gallery.
